

Students greening for climate change

An environmentalist teaches students how to plant and care for a tree. PHOTOS/GEOFREY MUMTUMBA

Mr Deo Ssaazi, an environmentalist, trains students how to care for seedlings.

Happy faces after planting a tree.

Members from TreeScape Plant Organisation are joined by some of the students to mount a signpost in school.

Learners and their visitors enjoy a photo moment before kickstarting the tree planting exercise.

Students enjoy a light moment of photos after the tree planting exercise.

Students are taken through a session on how to better care for the tree seedlings.

A student expresses her excitement about the exercise.