Pr Wilson Bugembe and Daxx Kartel will light up Vision Group's Toto Christmas Festival at Kampala Parents School playground on Sunday, December 7.

Organised by Vision Group, the Toto Christmas Festival has been sponsored by Indomie Instant Noodles, Pepsi, Toyota Uganda, SUMZ, Ruparelia Group and the National Identification and Registration Authority.

Besides entertainment by the music stars, the children will have an opportunity to showcase their natural gifts in the talent search, where they win prizes. Toto magazine editor Grace Nampiima encouraged children who can dance, paint and colour to ensure that their parents bring them to the festival.

"For each of the two talent search categories, there will be eight winners. This means we shall have 16 winners in total. To enter the talent search, buy a copy of The Weekend Vision newspaper at sh2,000 and fill in a coupon. There are plenty of prizes to be won," Nampiima said.

Vision Group's head of marketing and communication, Lorraine Tukahirwa, said this eighth edition of the festival will have more fun than past festivals.

"This year, we are creating an even more vibrant and engaging experience — one that allows children
