

Nanyonga with her mother, Namuwonge

Nanyonga needs financial support

Faridah Namuwonge, a resident of Nabweru-Katooke zone in Wakiso district, says her nine-year-old daughter, Victoria Nanyonga, developed symptoms of brain swelling, medically known as cerebral edema or brain inflammation, which has affected her entire body.

Namuwonge says the symptoms started in March last year while Nanyonga was at school. They started with headaches and fever. The child now has problems with movement and co-ordination, speech difficulties and physical disability.

Namuwonge is asking for help to raise sh8m to enable her daughter to undergo treatment. For any financial support towards Nanyonga's treatment, call 0751979767.

Chandiru was dumped in Gayaza

Approximately three years old, Fortunate Chandiru was dumped in Gayaza, Wakiso district, on February 11, last year.

The young girl was rescued by a Good Samaritan, who reported the matter to Gayaza Police post. The case was later forwarded to Kasangati Police Division under the Child and Family Protection Unit for further management.

The probation officer of Wakiso district handed over the child to Chrystal Children's Centre for care and protection. Anyone with reliable information about Chandiru's relatives should call 0754855769.

ABANDONED

Deserted by her mother

On December 29, 2024, a baby boy named Emmanuel Beckham Owamani was abandoned by his mother in Mareju Cell, Nyakabungo Ward, Rubanda Town Council, Rubanda district.

A Good Samaritan, James Byaruhanga, rescued the child and reported the incident to Rubanda Police Station. Initially, the baby was taken to Muko Health Centre IV for basic care and treatment, as he appeared unhealthy.

Later, he was transferred to Kabale Regional Referral Hospital, where he was admitted to the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit for 10 days.

On January 9, last year, Owamani was referred to Kisoro Porter's Village Babies Home for care.

On November 4, the senior probation and welfare officer of Rubanda district transferred the child to Nsambya Babies Home in Kampala city for safe custody as efforts continue to find him a foster family.

Any Good Samaritan willing to help reunite him with his family should call 0781725766.

Nantongo was left in Kitemu zone

According to Shamirah Nakazibwe, a resident of Nsangi-Kitemu Zone in Kyengera Town Council, Wakiso district, on November 14 last year, at around 6:00am, she found an abandoned baby girl while on her way to work.

Nakazibwe informed her husband and picked up the child. They stayed with the baby for a few days, hoping that someone would come to claim her, but no one did.

The case was later reported at Nabbingo Police Station and forwarded to Nsangi Police Division under the Child Welfare Office. Through the probation officer of Wakiso district, the child was referred to Chrystal Children's Centre for custodianship.

The baby was named Aisha Nantongo and is eight months old. Anyone with reliable information about her relatives should call 0754855769.

Where are Magala's parents?

On October 17 last year, a baby boy was deserted at the residence of Paul Rogers Magala in Nakabugo village, Wakiso district.

Magala rescued the child and reported a case of child desertion to Bulaga Police Post, which later forwarded the matter to Wakiso Division Police Headquarters under the Child and Family Protection Unit for better management.

The baby boy was named Peter Magala and was later transferred to Chrystal Children's Centre for protection.

Baby Magala is three months old now. To help reunite him with his parents, call 0754855769.

Help Nayiga reunite with her family

A baby girl was abandoned at the residence of Daisy Bendabonkoa in Kasangati, Wakiso district, on February 17 last year.

Bendabonkoa reported the matter to Kasangati Police Station under the Child and Family Protection Unit. The child was named Janat Nayiga.

Efforts by local authorities and residents to trace her parents in the community were unsuccessful. The Wakiso district probation officer later handed over the child to Chrystal Children's Home for safety.

Nayiga is two years old. To help reunite her with her family, call 0754855769.

Where is Lugolobi's family?

A young boy was dumped in Nansana zone, Nansana municipality, Wakiso district, on July 3 last year.

The child was picked up by a Good Samaritan, who reported the matter to the authorities. Efforts by local leaders and residents to trace the whereabouts of the child's relatives were unsuccessful.

Later, the probation and social welfare officer of Nansana municipality referred the child to Chrystal Children's Centre for safe custody. He was named Mark Lugolobi.

Lugolobi is about two years old. To help locate his relatives, call 0754855769.

