

Discipline elevated Kampala Parents' star

By Michael Odeng

Noel Christian Byaruhanga, one of the top performers in last year's Primary Leaving Examinations (PLE), has attributed his aggregate 5 to consistent hard work, discipline and faith.

He said the results crowned a year of determination, long hours of study and support from both his teachers and parents.

"It is exciting that I have performed very well. From the start, I put in a lot of effort and I trusted God," Byaruhanga said, beaming with confidence.

He said whenever he faced challenges in class, he consulted his teachers, whom he credits for guiding him through difficult concepts and keeping him focused throughout the year.

His mother, Eng. Miria Birungi Byaruhanga, described the results as a reward for persistence and teamwork between the learner, family and school.

Byaruhanga: Aggregate 5

"I am happy that he excelled and we believe he is going to join the secondary school of his first choice," she said, thanking the teachers for their dedication and commitment to nurturing her son's potential.