

Is it possible for schools to reduce paper usage?

Paddy Sematimba,
Deputy head teacher

They have to go digital, that is where the world is now moving to. Although my school has not yet done that but eventually, we have to go there.

Peninah Dhikusooka,
Deputy head teacher

With the smart life now, it is possible for schools to switch to digital, although it will be a gradual process.

Rebecca Sheren,
Head teacher

With new technology now, it is possible. People are using Artificial Intelligence, libraries and books are online, and reports are being sent online. Students are also studying online.

Richard Katongole, Headteacher

With the new curriculum, we have activities which we give students that require paper work for them to interpret the integration activities.